During the course of last season, MADELEINE VIGNONNET, pursuing her lack of reform, caught in a flagrante delicto, a certain number of people who were carrying her name and thus raising her reputation from these dishonest methods.

These parasites of Art will have to answer for their misdeeds before the Courts, and their accomplices, more or less guilty, will soon be coming out of the prisoners' dock. To complete the results already obtained and so as to round up the counterfeits who are still at large, MADELEINE VIGNONNET has put a price on their heads. Any person giving her the address of a first-class counterfeiter or else precise information, permitting her to discover the offenders in flagrante delicto and obtain their condemnation from the Courts, will receive, immediately the judgment is given, a reward in money, which may vary, but which will never be less than one thousand francs. It is a reward for honest information.

Those who know of any counterfeits should denounce them. Those who work for them should come to do so, in other words, all those who know should speak if they do not wish to be considered as accomplices. MADELEINE VIGNONNET has put one aim: defend Art by freeing it of the plunders who are killing all elegance.

FILM CENSOR BILL TO RETAIN TEETH, LUSK ANNOUNCES

Producers and Exhibitors in Albany Find Majority Boss Unmoved.

AMENDMENTS HELD UP

No Tinkering With the Measure Until Hearing on Tuesday Next.

BIG FIGHT IS CERTAIN

Movie Men Will Claim the Proposed Restrictions Will Cripple Business.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Albany, March 28.

When the leaders of the motion picture industry arrived to-day for a closeup on the pending censorship bill they found Senator Lusk in the title role of the majority boss, standing firmly and uncompromising against any modifications which would weaken the measure. All the dramatic elements for a thriller are present.

The movie men are prepared to stage a great scene in their fight with the Legislature. The producers claim that the proposed bill, creating a State board of censors, will cramp if not kill artistic expression, while exhibitors declare that such a law would seriously affect the whole movie business.

Senator Lusk said to-night that none of the amendments so far proposed by the motion picture people has been written into the bill, which is in committee in both houses. The whole matter of tinkering with the bill has been held up pending the hearing Tuesday of next week. Any amendments deemed necessary will be offered after the hearing.

The bill now under consideration creates a commission of three members, appointed by the Governor with the consent of the Senate. The members are to serve for five years at salaries of $7,500 each.

Every Film Examined.

The commission is to examine every film to be shown in this State and unless the picture is "obscene, indecent, immoral, inhuman, sacrilegious, or is of such a character that its exhibition would tend to corrupt morals or incite to crime, shall issue a license therefor." If the commission refuses to license a film it must furnish the applicant a written report of the reasons for its refusal and a description of each "rejected part of a film not rejected in toto." If a film has been exhibited in this State without official objection before August 1, 1921, a permit can be issued without examination. If it has been applied for within thirty days after the act goes into effect. For such films the fee is $5 for each thousand feet of film.

Current event or scientific films can be exhibited without examination or fee, but a permit for the latter must be accompanied by a sworn statement that it is not to be exhibited at any private or public place of amusement.

Any permit may be revoked by the commission on a five day notice and the commission has authority to prescribe a fee of $10 for each 1,000 feet or fraction thereof of original film and $5 for each additional copy thereof licensed by the commission. If a permit is cancelled the fee may or may not be returned and all fees collected by the commissioner are to be paid monthly into the State Treasury.

Has Right of Review.

All applications for licenses must be in writing, and in the case of refusal the applicant is to have the right to review by the full commission, whose decision shall be determined by a majority vote. This finding may be reviewable by the courts. If an applicant makes a false or misleading statement upon which he obtains a license or changes the film in any respect after the license has been issued, his permit may be revoked immediately.

Section 11 of the proposed law provides: "The judgment of any court concerning any film as in violation of the penal law shall per se revoke any license or permit for such film and the commission shall cause notice thereof to be sent to the applicant."

Exhibition at any place in this State of any film not authorized by license shall be illegal. On the subject of the burning picture, one of the main causes of public criticism of the movies, section 12 of the bill provides:

"It shall be unlawful to exhibit or to offer to another for exhibition purposes any burning picture, banner or other advertising matter in connection with any motion picture which would be unlawful if con-

ing Park avenue at 18th street on her way home. She carried an umbrella and crossed the street with her head bent against the wind. She was struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Hockberg of 120 St. Lawrence avenue, The Bronx, and her skull was fractured. At Lincoln Hospital it was said she probably would die.

Anna Benson, 6 daughter of Mrs. Benson, of 321 East 162d street, The Bronx, was crossing Teller avenue at 162d street when she was hit by an automobile driven by John Cusick of 286 Bridge avenue, The Bronx. Her skull was fractured, and she will probably die.

Reports of the storm damage available early this morning indicate that Staten Island and Plainfield, N. J., suffered most from the terrific wind which swept out of New Jersey, ripped and tore its way across the bay and the Hudson River into the city, and then passed on to sea, leaving wreckage and destruction in its wake. Almost every part and every village of Staten Island suffered somewhat from the storm, and several of the interior towns were in darkness last night because the wind ripped telephone poles from the earth and scattered them on the ground in the midst of a tangled mass of wires.

So far as Staten Island was concerned the hurricane came out of the north and went out to sea through the Kill van Kull, its entire time on the island being from 4:30 to 5 o'clock. In that time it did damage estimated at many thousands of dollars, though the exact amount may not be known for several days. The roof of the office of the Richmond Light and Power Company in Livingston, on the north shore, was ripped off by a heavy gust and hurled into the Staten Island Sound. The cupola of the Grand street public school in Livingston was blown off and the windows shattered in the north side of the new Richmond county court house at St. George. Several ships in the Kill van Kull parted their anchor chains and towed boats moored off shore have not been recovered. There is slight hope that any of them will be.

Oil Barge Loses 2,000 Barrels.

The hurricane, sweeping swiftly through the island, demolished fifteen bungalows between South and Midland beaches and smashed windows and damaged roofs throughout the borough. In the Harbor at St. George 2,000 barrels were blown from a Standard Oil Company's barge and only a few of them were recovered by tugs. An oil tanker anchored off Stapleton parted her chains and drifted down past Quarantine light house where she was picked up by a tug and brought back to her pier. A barge loaded with coal went adrift near Totenville and was caught by a tug, which towed her to Perth Amboy. Perryboats in the storm and were being blown out to sea when towboats rescued them and towed them to piers. Half a dozen small fishing boats moored off shore have not been recovered. There is slight hope that any of them will be.

In all sections in which the storm appeared the temperature provided one of the most remarkable spring colds in many years, that of Plainfield, of course, being the most freakish. But in New York the temperature reached a maximum of 79 degrees at 3:30 o'clock, and then it began to tumble. The mercury simply ran down the tube, and one hour and fifteen minutes after the maximum had been reached it was down to 64. At 8 o'clock last night it had reached and was still dropping, but slowly. The Weather Bureau said that freezing weather could be expected by morning. The day, besides bringing considerable damage with its later hours, was a total failure to the crowds which went to the beaches and the parks in summer clothing. Enough involuntary shivering was done during the two hours between 4 and 6 o'clock to keep all the dance censors busy for the rest of the season.

36 DEGREE DROP, THEN SNOW.
Mercury in Pennsylvania Falls From 76 to 40 in Four Hours.

SCRANTON, Pa., March 28.—A snowstorm followed a drop in temperature of 36 degrees in four hours to-day. At 11 A. M. the thermometer registered 76 degrees and at 3 P. M. it was 40, where it remained stationary the rest of the afternoon.

The snowstorm lasted an hour, about half an inch falling.

trained in a motion picture film under the terms of this act. A copy of such poster, banner or other matter shall be submitted to the commission.

The effect of this is to establish State censorship of all motion picture advertising, and this is one of the proposed features of the law to which the picture industry objects most seriously. Violations of any provisions of the act are described in the misdemeanor and the commission is given wide authority to enforce the law. The law does not relieve State or local police officers of their duties under the general laws dealing with immoral plays. The method of handling, filing and publishing all reports and records dealing with the industry are defined in great detail. The sum of $75,000 is appropriated to start the commission. The bill if enacted will become effective on August 1.

TWO ENRIGHT BILLS AFFECT DETECTIVES

Would Reorganize Bureau and Cement Commissioner's Grip Upon Personnel.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Albany, March 28.

Bills were presented in the Legislature this evening which are designed to carry out the old attempt by Commissioner Enright to perpetuate and cement his grip on the detective division of the Police Department. One was offered by Senator Smith of Richmond and the other by Senator Harris of New York county. Both are known as Enright bills.

The Harris bill creates a detective division in place of the detective bureau of the Police Department and provides that the Police Commissioner may select as many members of the uniformed force as he deems necessary and assign them to the division. Further provision is made that detectives who serve for three years in this division shall be made permanent members of the detective force. They could then be removed only on charges.

The Smith bill is almost identical, excepting that it makes one year service a standard for permanent appointment. The purpose of introducing the two bills is said to first try out the Legislature on the one year provision, and in the event of that failing to have a three year measure in reserve.

The members of the uniformed force in the department are against the bill.

FOUR OF HETTRICK'S PLUMBERS JAILED

Cornell Corporation Also Fined $10,000 for Using 'Code of Practice.'

Prison terms were imposed on four individuals, and the W. G. Cornell Corporation, Inc., a plumbing corporation that does an annual business of $2,500,000, was ordered to pay a fine of $10,000 by Justice John V. McAvoy in the Supreme Court yesterday. All were found guilty of violation of the Donnelly anti-trust law in prosecutions that grew out of the Lockwood committee investigation. They were members of the Master Plumbers' Association.

The individuals who received prison sentences were Charles A. Murphy of the Wells & Newton Company, Inc., three months and a fine of $5,000; John L. Knight, president of the Master Plumbers' Association, two months; Edward L. Slosson of the firm of W. G. Cornell Company, Inc., ten days, and William Barkin of the firm of Marcus & Barkin, Inc., 64 East 18th street, five days.

The $10,000 fine which Justice McAvoy entered on the W. G. Cornell Corporation, Inc., as a corporation, to pay is the largest that has been imposed on any of the defendants since the trials of those charged with participation in the Hettrick code of practice were begun.

Justice McAvoy fined the Wells & Newton Company, Inc., $5,000.
